A Message from Deacon Rick . . . .

Our gospel this week is one where the message is a strong one. Life is short. What we do in this test of life, and the choices that we make, will determine our position in eternity. If there is anything that causes you to sin, we must discard it – remove its influence over us – or it could bring us to a place apart from God for eternity. That is an "in your face" hard message to deal with and it should give us pause. Jesus was not kidding, he was being up front with us with the admonition to review our behavior and the choices we are making; if they are not of God, if they are not building up the Kingdom of God but are instead bring ourselves and others down – we will have a serious problem when we meet him when this test of life is through. That is why we have the benefit of going to confession periodically. When we review where we are, in this journey of life, in a very objective way against God's standards, we can address those areas where we need "course correction" to place us on the right path. That is the blessing we have in being a part of a sacramental Church that can guide us in ways which are level and true, according to the will of God..

This past week, I received a check from the lawyers handling the estate of Henry F. Superczynski. I did not know Henry, as he passed on before I came here, but I have heard of his involvement with the parish. He was a part of the choir, participated with our fund raising gatherings and was well liked by so many. In this choosing to give a gift to our parish in his passing, the blessing of his life lives on. He placed his treasure where his heart was. May the Lord bless and give him a place of peace and comfort in His kingdom, that has been prepared for him, to share in His glory.

Peace +,
Deacon Rick

OFFERTORY: WEEK OF September 20, 2015

We have been given many blessings. How will we share our treasure with others? All of the parish financial resources depend on the donations of the parishioners. In over half of the parables in the Bible, Jesus talks about money or material possessions.

Faith Moment Reflection

In a consumer-based world competition can have positive results. When companies compete for business, the consumer wins through lower prices or better service. When sports teams compete, it can provide wholesome entertainment. But the scripture readings today remind us that competition can also have negative effects, especially when it is driven by jealousy, peer pressure or greed. If competition causes us to see others as obstacles in the way of something we are trying to achieve, that's a problem. And it goes completely against the message Jesus teaches. Christians believe we are called to support and cheer one another on instead of trampling others down as rivals. Jesus challenges us to ask ourselves what it means to be part of a faith community...all on the same team. It's really quite simple...we are to love one another. And that life of love will lead us to the joy of spending eternity with God in heaven. Nothing on earth can compete with that.

Twenty-sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time – September 27, 2015

Still, God calls and God promises that His grace and the Gifts of the Holy Spirit will be poured out upon anyone who accepts the call to a Church vocation. If you feel God is calling you, call Father Walter Szczesny ~ 716-847-5535.
